Rethinking Dieta Mediterranea

An Anthropogenic Hackathon
2021–2022 Academic Year

Napoli, Italy

The Spark Creative Hub, Piazza
Giovanni Bovio No 33, Napoli
80133

December 6th – 7th

In this two-day hackathon, students are invited to co-create conceptual solutions for rethinking the Mediterranean food economy, departing from the concept of the Mediterranean diet. At the end of the hackathon, students will answer questions such as: How to empower alternative forms of production and consumption that are both productive and resilient? How will the Mediterranean diet change (for example, the introduction of formerly ‘tropical’ produce, like mangoes and avocados, that now grow in Southern Italy)? How to guarantee worker rights and ensure proper remuneration in a rural economy marked by a powerful role of informal economic networks and persisting structural racism? To register, please send a one-page cv to afi.soedarsono@societing.org by November 30th 2021. For more information, please visit the website of Societing.
