War-displaced Persons' Protection Rights – Case study Ukraine

International Summer School on Refugee Law and Rights

Are you interested in Humanitarian Law, Refugee Law and Protection, and Human Rights Law? Join this hybrid 10-day summer school course in Olomouc from August 15th – August 25th to learn more about these topics, with also a special focus on the Temporary Protection Directive and European Asylum Law, as it applies to Ukrainian refugee rights and protection in neighbouring countries of Central and Eastern Europe.

With a focus on mass displacement and protection of civilians affected by the developing war situation in Ukraine, the school will be co-thought by international experts and professors from the Faculty of Law at Palacký University Olomouc and V.N Karazin Kharkiv National University in Ukraine.

Open to students from all academic disciplines and professionals from different backgrounds. The application fee (EURO 400) will be donated to V.N. Karazin Kharkiv National University.
